

ARMY SONGS

FIGHT FOR VICTORY

Tune.—On to victory (patriotic).
We Soldiers of The Army,
Rise up to the call to-day,
And to God's strength and power,
Rush on to the fray;
In your faith triumphant,
Go forth to seek the lost,
While the dear old Flag waves o'er
you;
Be always at your post.

Chorus.
Fight for victory, fight for victory,
Fight for victory, victory though
you die;
Faith should be your watchword,
Holiness your victory;
Fight, fight for victory, victory
though you die.

The soldiers in earth's battles
Uphold the nation's flag,
What though the bullets rattle,
Their courage never flags;
Yours is a nobler conflict,
You seek to save the lost,
While the dear old Flag waves o'er
you;
Be always at your post.

The drunkard and the outcast
Have oft refused God's call,
Go tell them of a Saviour,
Who died to save them all;
Some of them may not hearken,
But do your uttermost,
While the dear old Flag waves o'er
you,
Be always at your post.

T. C. Miller, Vancouver

ALL-IN-ALL

Tunes.—My soul is now united, 101;
I'd choose to be a Soldier, 98;
Song Book, 261.
Oh, I have been to Jesus! To-day
He's spoken peace;
To-day He is my Refuge; Oh, what a sweet release!
From every storm He hides me,
From sin He keeps me free;
In everything He guides me, He's
All-in-all to me.

Chorus.
Oh, glory to His name!
He's taken my sins away!
And now He keeps me happy,
As I trust Him day by day!

On the stormy billows my sin-sick soul was tossed;
But now I'm in the harbour, my fears and troublies lost.
I'm glad I've cast my anchor, I'm sure that it will hold;
And I shall go to Heaven to share
the love untold.

O comrade on life's ocean, to-day
may rise the storm;
Thy soul before the even to depths
of woe be borne.
O step into the life-boat, that's launching out for thee;
No longer by the foul winds tossed,
stay on sin's troubled sea.

LOVE DIVINE

Love divine, from Jesus flowing,
Living waters, rich and free,
Wondrous love, without a limit,
Flowing from eternity;
Boundless ocean,
I would cast myself on Thee!

Love surpassing understanding,
Angels would the mystery scan,
Yer so tender that it reaches the heart of man;
Let me, Jesus,
Follow Thee, in thy kingdom's plan,
Love that sinners past transgressions
see.

Love that cleanses every stain,
Love that fills to overflowing;
Yet invites to the Fountain;
Precious Fountain!
Which to open Christ was slain.

OH, THE BLOOD!

Tunes.—Oh, the Voice, 56; Now I can rest, 54; Song Book, 495.
It is the Blood that washes white,
That makes me pure within;
That keeps the inward witness right
That cleanses from all sin.

Chorus.
Oh, the Blood to me so dear:
It is the Blood that sweeps away
The power of Satan's rod,
That shows the new and living way
That leads to Heaven and God.

It is the Blood that brings us nigh
To Holiness and Heaven,
The source of victory and joy—
God's life for rebels given.

SWEET HOUR OF PRAYER

Tunes.—Rocked in the cradle, 14;
Ye bands and brass, 121; S.B.; 512.
Sweet hour of prayer! sweet hour of
prayer!

That calls me from a world of care,
And bids me at my Father's throne
Nake all my wants and wishes known;

In seasons of distress and grief,
My soul has often found relief,
And oft escape the tempter's snare,
By thy return, sweet hour of prayer!

Sweet hour of prayer! sweet hour of
prayer!

The voice shall my petition bear
To Him whose truth and faithfulness

Engage the waiting soul to bless;
And since He bids me seek His face, Believe His word, and trust His grace,

I'll cast on Him my every care,
And wait for thee, sweet hour of prayer!

SALVATIONISTS OFF
TO THE FRONT

A most interesting evening was spent at The Salvation Army Winnipeg Citadel Monday evening, the occasion being the farewell and seal-send-off to members of The Salvation Army who are attached to the different groups of soldiers who are going to the front. Amongst those in whose honour the gathering was held were Corporal Jack Bullock, Privates Jack and Charlie Loughton, and Bert Taylor, of the Fourth Field Ambulance who are members of The Army Corps at Calgary; also Bandsman Shaw of the Forty-fourth band; Bandsmen Eddie Taylor and Simons of the Twenty-eighth band, as well as others who are attached to the various battalions at present mobilized here.

IT IS IMPORTANT to be whole-hearted about everything. The most satisfactory things in life are those we do with our whole hearts. My mind goes back to a time when I was a girl at home, and when my mother had to teach me the lesson that it was important I should finish the things which I began—even if it was only making a new pinions for my favourite doll, or painting some picture in my painting book. I did not like that lesson.

When I started a thing I found it was not always "as I had thought it would be." I had an idea that if I began another that would be better. And sometimes when I was doing a sum which would not come right, I would say, "Let me try the next one." Then my dear mother had again to enforce that important lesson. Since I have been grown up I have come to understand the true meaning of all this. And I am so glad that I was made to do the right thing even when I did not understand.

The Disappointment!

Now, I realize how important it was to leave that great work. Without it, I might have spoiled so many things by leaving them unfinished. Is not the unfinished thing always disappointing? And the more precious it is, the bigger the disappointment. Imagine a picture painted by a famous artist. If he has only had time—as in the case of some pictures I have seen—just to begin, just to give an idea of what it might be, and then, perhaps, has died, people say, "What a pity! I only had been finished, it would have been the most wonderful of all his works."

Yet concerning the highest things of all there are so many people who are willing for God's work in them to remain an incomplete work—an unfinished work. It is sad that in the world of our souls, in all that has to do with the highest and holiest things in our nature, there should be so much that is not finished. That is not God's way of working; God's work is a perfect work.

The Lesson of a Flower

Look at Nature. Is not her per-

A Complete Salvation

BY MAJOR CATHERINE BOOTH

Notes of an Address Given at the Day of Devotion in the Westminster Central Hall, London (Eng.).

fect-work the lesson which speaks to us every time? The more you peer into it, the more flowers or the more fruit you see, or at the start in the heavens—the more you know about it, the more you will find out, the more perfect it is, how finished. And do you think God would work like that with the flowers in the field, which perish in a day, and, not be willing to perfect that which concerns you? Oh! it is His will for every one that His work in us should be finished, that we should be complete in Him.

I ask, is that work of God in your a complete work? We talk about Full Salvation. That is what it means—a complete Salvation, a Salvation which leaves nothing out. Is your Salvation a complete one? If not, then it is not our part that remains to be done. It matters not how complete God's part may be if ours is incomplete. Has my part, has your part, been done? You have been saved from some of your sins. But has that saved you from all your sins, from the hidden sins—the little sins, the sins which the world excuses, the sins which the world excuses?

The world is so unjust to sin. It calls some sins big and black; but in God's sight there is no difference, and the insincere or untrue spirit in my heart is as bad in God's sight as the spirit which makes a cheat a liar in the sight of the world. It is a lie to say that God's work in us is not the same now. It does not make it any easier to have it hidden up; indeed, it makes it worse; and the work of God in my heart—the complete work—is to save me from all my sins. Oh! are there things in your heart which you feel ashamed and sorry and disappointed to think about and to acknowledge? If so, then God has not done all He desires to do in you.

The Spirit of Obedience is your obedience a complete

SELF-DENIAL WEEK— WHAT IT MEANS

THE SELF-DENIAL WEEK of The Salvation Army is an Annual Effort whereby Salvationists and friends of The Army not only deny themselves of something for the sake of the Kingdom of Christ, but take up their cross and collect for this purpose. Dear reader, you are invited to join in this effort—asked to contribute something to the Self-Denial Fund. You can either give your contribution to the local Corps or you can send your gift to Commissioner Richards at The Salvation Army Headquarters, James and Albert Streets, Toronto.

We ask you to read the General's appeal on Page Eight, and then read the account of the Spiritual and Social Work that The Army is doing on behalf of the heroic young men of the Empire who are doing their duty for King and country at the Front.

THE WEEK'S BEST STORY SELECTED FROM THE ARMY'S PRESS

ONE OF THE BRAVEST

STORY OF A YOUNG TRANSVAALER WHO WAS STRUCK DOWN ON THE FIELD OF BATTLE

NEARLY twelve months ago a young man from the Driefontein Social Farm requested help over a difficulty he was in.

The Superintendent looked rather surprised at such a fine specimen of colonial youth, with so honest a face, being sent. But his papers showed that he had got into trouble over the recent strike on the Rand.

It was a joy indeed to help such a young man in the meetings on the Farm he took a deep interest, and quickly evinced anxiety in connection with his own personal relationships with God.

In his work on the Farm he was most reliable, and revealed that he was a young man of character. His family connections, we were not surprised to find, on inquiry, were amongst some of the best in the Transvaal. He was only nineteen years of age. He had six feet in his stockings, and was perfect in physique.

Five weeks after his arrival at the through all he kept right with God, and this notwithstanding a great deal of opposition, owing largely to his determination to become a Salvation Army Officer.

Serious illness followed, owing to the unsuccessful treatment of the bullet wound, and he passed away to be with God.

Sewn in on the inside of his vest over his heart was discovered after his death two-half crowns wrapped in paper, on the face of which was written—

"Sacred to the Memory of my second mother!"

These two coins, we might explain, were given to him by Mrs. Brigadier Baird when he said good-bye to her leaving the Farm. He did not feel his loss more than we did, as he was the genuine article—"South African Cry."

HARD HIT!

But this Australian Farmer Had the Right Spirit of Giving.

One of our Officers was collecting in the country, and called upon a farmer who, usually, gives five shillings to the Self-Denial Effort. He regretfully said he could not afford to give so much this year, and asked the Captain to forgive him. She then fell wounded his captain remarked, "There goes one of my bravest soldiers!"

In his work on the Farm he was a good manager as the manager of a farm for one of the wealthy land-owners in the Transvaal.

He belonged to the Union Defence Force, and when trouble broke out he was called up, went to the front, was wounded, and sent back to his family.

When he fell wounded his captain remarked, "There goes one of my bravest soldiers!"

He stepped forth to defend the weak, and "sweat to aid change not," are cardinal documents of Army Soldiers. Many went home to their farms, others remained in the ranks, and others became farmers, and perhaps there he has found his quota of man.

THE SALVATION ARMY AND THE GREAT EUROPEAN WAR

Thousands of Salvationists not only "Render unto Caesar things that are Caesar's," the Red Cross Work, Social Relief and Comfort Legions, Chaplains (official and unofficial), Meetings in Trenches and Tents, Relief Committees, Care of Refugees, and other Works Succour Humanity, and Exalt Christ

THE cry rang throughout the Empire, "Your King, valiant to his last, did not make it any easier to have it hidden up; indeed, it makes it worse; and the work of God in my heart—the complete work—is to save me from all my sins. Oh! are there things in your heart which you feel ashamed and sorry and disappointed to think about and to acknowledge? If so, then God has not done all He desires to do in you.

God and The Army had made him a better soldier than he was in his old bad days, and of more value to his King and country.

Perhaps the reason which appeals most forcibly to Salvationists is the case of a London motorbus conductor. Bandsman Nicholls of the Deptford Corps, a London County Council tram car conductor, wrote this to the London "Cry":

"Whilst running up and down the streets of London in my car I noticed that many young lads were joining Kitchener's Army. As I looked at them I felt that some one was needed in the ranks of the King's Army to keep them from the pitfalls of barrack-room life. I also knew that they were leaving good homes, and that several money. It was a God-given opportunity which I shall never forget. Several of the men afterwards thanked me for my advice and words of comfort." (See picture on this page.) He has been successful in winning a large number of these Soldiers to the Church.

The sons of Officers—who are not

Officers themselves—have rallied well to their country's need. Colonel Jeffries, the Field Secretary for the British Field, has, so far as we know, the place of honour, with four sons and a daughter at the front. His Majesty the King has shown his appreciation of the Colonel's sacrifice and patriotism by giving him a late Captaincy in the South Africa. He has also four sons. Commissioner Higgins of England, has a son-in-law and a daughter in France. No fewer than seventy Officers' sons are serving with the colons.

It will be readily understood that deeds of mercy and compassionate acts characterize the warfare of Salvationists in the field. So Red Cross Work, Special Spiritual and Social Work, and Social Service among the boys in khaki are the three main lines of Salvation Army Work in connection with the great conflict now raging in Europe.

The following shows in concise form what The Army is doing. As already stated, we have over ten thousand Salvationists with the British Army, and over ten thousand with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and Chaplains, either official or unofficial with every belligerent nation, except Turkey and Austria. We have three hundred Huts and Tents in connection with Kitchener's Army; Comfort Brigades; nine thousand wounded Belgian soldiers have convalesced at our Farms and in our Hostels, while thousands of refugee women and children have found a home in our Farms.

Over twenty thousand men, women, and children have been received into our Social Institutions into the ranks of the army; we have sent tons of woolen goods to the soldiers in the trenches, and Miss Booth of America has sent to the European hospitals tons of old linen for dressing purposes and tons of woolen goods. We have in Great Britain two thousand Corps, and the following weekly report that appeared in the British "War Cry" shows the vast amount of practical assistance that is being rendered at the Corps throughout the nation:

stood much of it would not be gathered, owing to the cost of picking, packing, and carrying. He therefore suggested to the gardeners and farmers concern that they should either gather it and send it to The Salvation Army, or if unable to gather it themselves, that they should allow The Salvation Army Life-Saving Scouts to come and gather it.

"A good response has been made to this appeal, and a start will at once be made to convert the fruit into wholesome jam for distribution to needy families. The Scouts have also rendered good service in collecting the needed jam jars. Arrangements are in hand to make one ton of jam. The Mayor is making great efforts towards the cost of the sugar. The Scout Headquarters, besides being turned into a jam factory, is to be fitted up as a Soldiers' Rest and Correspondence Room. A Brigade of Sisters has been formed to deal with the soldiers' washing and mending."

THE SPECIAL SERVICE LEGION

The comforting and cheering up of bereaved ones and assisting those materially in need is largely done by an organization called the Special Service Legion. This provides that in all large towns twenty or more women Salvationists will comfort and help the wives and friends of those at the front.

It appears that Lord Fisher, the First Sea Lord, inquired at the offices of a London Distress Company for information as to what was being done to cheer the wives of sailors and soldiers. He was informed that the Salvation Army had undertaken to do all that was necessary in that direction.

"We have set apart for it," he was told, "women with tender hearts and cheerful countenances." The remark delighted Lord Fisher. He slapped his thigh in sailor fashion, laughed heartily, and exclaimed: "Splendid; this is the best I have heard yet. I will tell the King about it." It was in connection with this branch of the work that the following took place:

A Sunderland woman, with five sons in the army, lay dying. Her one desire was to see her beloved son, the third son, the son of a local Salvation Army Officer, for one of the sons serving in England reached home within twenty-four hours. Their expenses were paid by the authorities. The fifth son, however, was at the front and there seemed little chance of the old woman seeing her wish fulfilled. But the Salvationist Officer wired to the War Office, and back came the reply over Lord Kitchener's signature, saying that if the son could be found he would be sent home and eventually he landed in time to see his mother before her death. The authorities had paid his expenses and had given him seven days' furlough and rations.

The number of envelopes bearing the words "On His Majesty's Service," and bringing news of sickness, wounds, and death, have been to numbers in Great Britain that the words have quite an ominous appearance, and such letter is usually productive of the recipient's worst fears. But the contents of such a letter are not always tragic, as the following shows:

A woman's husband was in the trenches in France. Each day the young wife dreaded the arrival of the postman, lest he should bring the news of her husband's death. One day a letter, "On His Majesty's Service," was handed to her.

AT PRESENT A THOUSAND MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WORSHIP ACCORDING TO THEIR OWN VAIN IMAGININGS. IN THE FAR EAST THEY BOW DOWN TO BUDDHA, AND, THE HINDU WORSHIPS BRAHMA; THE SOUTH AFRICAN LOOKS TO HIS WITCH DOCTOR, AND THE WEST INDIAN TO HIS OBI CHARM; WHILE THERE ARE STILL SOUTH SEA ISLANDERS WHO PRACTISE INFANT SACRIFICE. YOUR SELF-DENIAL WILL HELP TO BRING ABOUT THE TIME WHEN CHRIST SHALL HAVE THE HEATHEN FOR HIS INHERITANCE.

She felt her worst fears were realized; and that her husband was slain. Her feelings overcame her, and she shrieked in her anguish, and became hysterical.

A Salvationist family knew her, and the mother ran to comfort the "bereaved one." She was weeping and wringing her hands in deepest sorrow, declaring that she would never see her dear one again. The Salvationist saw the letter, had it read, and then, in the presence of the religious beliefs, Lutherans and Methodists, belonging to other persuasions, waited at the word of command, and through his list of domesticities, called out: "Are there any who can read the words?" "May I open the letter and read it for you?" said the Salvationist. She was given permission, and this is the letter read:

"Dear Madame.—I am very glad to find the payment of your bill."

"Here are some stories of interest regarding the Salvationists."

One man said, "I was afraid of leaving my wife and baby, but last night I went to The Army."

"I said to the Captain, 'Will you

(a Reservist) said: "I was awfully sick this evening about leaving my wife, but last night I went to The Army and I said to the Captain, 'Will you look after my missis and kids while I'm away?'" The Captain replies, "Yes, we shall all come to my place for dinner while you're away, and we'll help you in other ways!" And I bucked up," he now says, "Why, even if I am not allowed to come to my place for dinner, you are away, and we'll take care of you, and I'll be all right."

A woman called to inform her daughter had just given birth.

She said, "Captain, I want to tell you my name, because we are to call you Captain. She will be told that she is a Salvation Army lady because they have a Captain, and added with pride, "We have just come a Salvation Soldier."

She dedicated twenty-five babies, and was named after him.

CHAPLAINS-GENERAL OTHERWISE

The Salvation Army has Chaplains with nearly 5000 units. We have three Officers, and the Chaplains are divided into three classes: Captains, and an Officer who goes to Egypt with both the Australian and New Zealand Forces. The later Australian news that the Commonwealth had offered to appoint ten Salvationists as Chaplains to the Australian Forces was distinct from the English.

On the Continent of Europe the Chaplains are acting as Chaplains to the German Army. A German Officer was appointed to the German soldiers who were being impaled and hanged to the trees, and he refused to do so, and was beaten and religious beliefs. Lutherans and Methodists.

But Salvationists need not be official Chaplains to afford spiritual consolation. Captain Schmidt, a German Salvation Army Officer, who is a sergeant in one of the regiments fighting in Alsace, was wounded during the battle of Muelhausen, and writing of the incident says:—

"It is impossible to describe the fearful havoc wrought by shell fire. Heads and limbs are scattered to the four winds. I was caught in the leg, and after sixteen hours lay on the battlefield weak from loss of blood and parched with thirst. All around me could be heard groans of the injured. The men in my company knew I was a Salvationist, and kept on calling out, 'Sergeant, Sergeant, pray help!' I found my guide, and, aided by Providence, dragged myself along the field, and was able to comfort many of my comrades and soothe their last moments."

A Salvationist recently told in his testimony how he was aboard the destroyer Liberty which sank the German cruiser Mainz. There were nine men on board, and, with our commanding officer, eight of whom were killed. In the engagement he proved that his Salvationism was a great help to him. After the fight he was able to go and speak with and cheer his less fortunate shipmates who were wounded. Some of their injuries were terrible, and our comrade assisted in binding up their wounds.

A recent letter from a comrade in Holland says: "A Dutch Officer, who had to leave his Corps, wife, and children, and is now with his regiment at Zutphen, told me that he was able to get a number of his comrades to The Salvation Army Hall, and that five of the men who sleep

AMBULANCE WORK IN NEUVE CHAPELLE

The following is an example of the service rendered by The Army's Ambulance men: The next day was the memorable tenth of March—the first day of the great fight at Neuve Chapelle. All cars were called out for service, six men, the Pioneer Unit being ordered to proceed to assist at the advanced station, while the two Ford cars were sent to another part of the line. The succeeding five days will never be forgotten by us. We saw war at its worst! Our men were on duty from Wednesday morning until Sunday night, during the whole of that time having only two or three spells of a couple of hours' sleep. One driver sat at the wheel for twenty-seven hours at a stretch, took a couple of hours'

RED CROSS WORK

Up to the present The General has provided two Motor Ambulance Units, whose work is to carry the wounded from the clearing hospital just at the rear of the firing lines to the distant base-hospital or to the ships that carry the wounded to England. These units are operated by Salvationists, and have done most valuable work. The first Unit was dedicated by the Lord Mayor of London in the historic Guildhall. The last Unit is named the Queen Alexandra Unit. Her Majesty having been pleased to inspect and name them. Her Majesty, placing her hand on the foremost car, said, "I have much pleasure in naming this car the 'Alexander Car,' and I wish it good luck, and God's blessing on its mission."

Each car has the Red Cross and the words "Salvation Army" in French and English, and is operated by Salvation Army Officers and Salvation Army men. The first Unit of the General has shown themselves so efficient that at least one has been put in charge of an Imperial Ambulance Section of seventeen cars. In connection with this branch of Army operations we have dealt with nine thousand wounded Belgian soldiers on our Farms and in our Hostels, thousands of whom have returned to the defense of their native land; others will never fight again, and a number of them are on our Farms in South Africa.

rest, and went on again. Every man of the Unit rendered yeoman service, and, as a military medical officer remarked, their splendid work was "a tribute to temperance, non-smoking, and clean living."

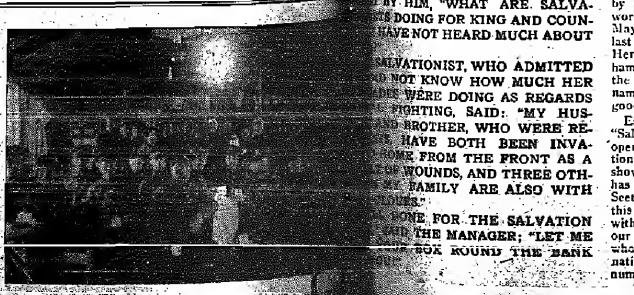

The grandest moment of that terrible five days was when the General issued a call for volunteers to go to the firing line. Three of our men (the only three Salvationists present) offered themselves. The danger was immense, for a fearful artillery duel was in progress and thousands of rifles were spitting death. Our men and cars were accepted, I was appointed deputy leader to a convoy of ten were about a mile from the scene of action we were ordered to extinguish the only light we had, which was but a flickering glimmer at the camp and the order was given to proceed.

A journey to the scenes where the battle is in progress takes a big toll of the nerves. When we best, and then we crawled along a road which was in great need of repair.

At last, however, after what seemed an interminable journey, we arrived at what is known as the Regimental Aid Post—a dressing station on the fringe of the battlefield. This happened to be a hattered farmhouse. Aided by the "kindly" rays of a bursting shell, we were able to pick this place out. Men were lying everywhere, in hen coops, stables, and pig-styes. Inside these places the only light came from shaded hurricane lamps, and the spirit of whispers—everything was strangely eerie and tragic. The place was filled with wounded men.

We were in somewhat of a dilemma as to how we should turn our cars round; for the road we were on was very narrow. An officer advised us to go fifty yards up the road to a turning on the right-hand side, and then wait for the light from a star shell. This we did, negotiated the turning successfully, and but a few minutes elapsed before our cars were loaded and we set off for the Field Ambulances, where we reached safely. We had much cause to thank God for preservation, for two other cars which did the journey on that same night were destroyed by shell fire and the drivers answered the last call.

SOCIAL SERVICE IN TENTS AND HUTMENTS

The Army has three hundred Tents and Huts in localities where the British Army has been trained; for the purpose of affording rest-rooms, supplying the boys in khaki with refreshments, and conducting meetings, and serving the boys generally. With respect to these meetings, the following story is told:—

"A Tommy who had been marching all day was coming into camp dead tired. He was dragging his way along, one leg saying to the other:

"I'm a Tommy, I'm a Tommy, I'm a Tommy."

"I'm a Tommy, I'm a Tommy, I'm a Tommy."

1915 WEEK OF SELF-DENIAL

Will Give all Corps an Opportunity Distinguish Themselves—“Victory for

HEARD THE BAND

Testimony of a Convert at Belleville.

Whilst we were singing on Sunday afternoon, April 11th, a young man volunteered for Salvation. He afterwards testified that, when in the barber's shop on the previous Saturday night, he heard the Band playing and felt constrained to come to the meetings, with the result that he gave himself to God. He has attended all the meetings since, and gives a good testimony.

Brigadier Revolving and McMillan were with us on Wednesday, April 14th, and in the afternoon conducted our Holiness meeting, at which two comrades sought the blessing of a clean heart. Several comrades, with the Captain, visited the House of Refuge on Sunday, 24th, and held a short service, whilst Mrs. Captain Ruston led on at the Citadel. The night open-air was one of the largest and best ever here. Every convert was in full uniform. In all, there was a splendid attendance, and two Census Board Commissions were commissioned. The Band played “Promoted to Glory,” in memory of Private Nichols, of the 30th Regiment, and five comrades sought Salvation, including a man and wife and two military comrades who have been under conviction several weeks.

ENTERTAINED TROOPS

Officers Farewell from Swift Current. We invited the soldiers of the Third Contingent resident here, and numbering about eighty, to a cheery meeting and tea on April 8th. Captain Jones gave a short Salvation talk, and in closing Private J. Newman, on behalf of the boys, expressed gratitude, stating that The Army was the Christian organization in this town which had given them an entertainment.

On Sunday (11th) the farewell meetings of Captains Jones and Junker were held, at which there were good attendances. A nice tea provided by the Soldiers of the Corps, was partaken of, after which Sister Mrs. Wah and Brother Johnstone were enrolled. We gave the Captains a hearty send-off at noon on Friday, for Moose Jaw, where we pray, God may abundantly bless them—J. J.

SARNIA, ONT.

This week-end, April 17th-18th, the Young People were to the front, assisting at all services. On the Sunday afternoon a service and song was conducted by the Staff Cadet Corps, who were rendered by Bro. J. Wood, Sr., Miss Llons, and Corps Cadet Maudell. The children sang sweetly “I Am So Glad.” The reader was Captain O. Bond, and Lieutenant Roberts presided at the organ. On Monday night, April 19th, the Young People held a social, and a most enjoyable time was spent in games, etc. The Young People thanked those who so generously contributed towards the evening's enjoyment—Nedra.

TORONTO, I.

NEW WATERFORD, N.S.

Envoy Brewer Brown was with us for the week-end, April 17th-18th. We had a splendid meeting. On Saturday night there was a fine attendance at the open-air to listen to the Envoy's wonderful testimony. The meeting inside was good and a comrade came forward for salvation. On Sunday morning the Holiness meeting was full of God's power, and a comrade came forward. At the afternoon open-air and indoor meetings, we had good numbers present, and the Envoy gave us a small glimpse into his past life. Although he is not in the best health he is doing splendidly, and putting all his energy into the meetings. Four sinners knelt at the Mercy Seat on Sunday night. We had a long march, with the Envoy at the head in his bare feet and of Miss Brown. This drew a large crowd. The Hall was completely filled, and all listened eagerly to his words—R. W.

NORTH SYDNEY

Maj. Bar was with us recently and commissioned our Local Officers for the year. It was the Captain and Mrs. Gillham's stay in our midst and the Major spoke very highly of their good work here. A final farewell meeting was held on Tuesday, April 14th, and was conducted by Adjutant Cavender, of Glace Bay, an old friend of the Soldiers here. The Sisters of the Corps arranged a nice tea at which there was a good attendance. The Rev. Mr. Turner, Methodist Minister, spoke very kindly of our departing Officers—M. F.

SEA BORTH, ONT.

The week-end meetings, April 17th-18th, conducted at Seaforth by Staff-Captain White, were times of great blessing and inspiration. Although handicapped with a cold, the Captain worked hard to cheer and encourage the Soldiers. The results were ten Juniors seeking the Saviour, and three adults for Holiness. Lieutenant Rowland was welcomed to assist Captain John Ward. Attendances and finances were good.

MONTRÉAL IV.

After bravely fighting on for five months without an Officer, we were welcomed Lieutenant Ed. C. Smith in our midst to take command. There were good meetings all day Sunday, April 18th. Though there were no visible results we believe that God blessed the message to some precious soul—Peter.

LITTLE BAY ISLAND

This last report Lieutenant Bolton has taken charge of this Corps and we have been endeavoring to keep the chariot rolling along. On a recent Sunday night a young man surrendered. Adjutant Earle recently visited this Corps, and gave a very interesting talk.

END ADVANCE

THREE BIG DAYS

Work of Captain and Mrs. Sprole at Orillia.

much regret the Soldiers and Mrs. Sprole had to leave on Saturday orders. Since their return seven months ago, the Captain and his wife had endeared themselves not only to the local but to outside friends, by their enthusiasm and devotion to work. Under their competent direction, the work has been progressing, and a number of new converts have been added to the ranks. May God continue to bless them in their new appointment at New Glasgow.

The last of the three great events, held in our Hall, was the wedding of our faithful Bandmaster, Brother Heron—Sister Beswick. These two young people are very popular among the Christian element here, and have numerous well-wishers at the commencement of this their married life. Many valuable and useful presents were received by the bride, which was an evidence of the good will of their friends. Captain and Mrs. Sprole, of New Glasgow, are our new Officers. God bless them.

VERDUN (MONTREAL)

Commissioner Richards visited us on Saturday, April 17th, and a great welcome meeting was held in the City Hall. Every seat available was occupied. Mayor Manning and ex-Congressman, a very hearty welcome. Accompanying the Commissioner were Colonel Gaskin, Lieut-Colonels A. Chandler and Turner, Brigadier Rawling, and a great many other Staff Officers. The Commissioner lectured for an hour on “The Four-Faith Religion,” and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Our Sunday morning meeting was conducted by Captain Daniels, who is visiting here, and in the afternoon all the Corps and Bands united for a great service. The Commissioner at the St. James Methodist Church, at which the Rev. Dr. Symonds presided.

At night a Salvation meeting, led by our own Officers, assisted by Captain Daniels, was held—T. B.

WINNIPEG V.

Staff-Captain and Mrs. Peacock conducted a service on Sunday, April 18th. Lieutenant Sill is also here a few days, awaiting the completion of her new quarters at Weston. Mrs. Staff-Captain Peacock took the lesson at the Holiness meeting. This afternoon was spent with the children, and we are pleased to say seven came to the Mercy Seat. The Hall was crowded for the Salvation meeting. Lieutenant Sill sang a nice solo, after which she gave her personal testimony. Staff-Captain Peacock gave the lesson. At the conclusion of our prayer meeting, a boy came out for forgiveness. C. P.

JOHN'S III. (NFLD.)

On Sunday, April 11th, we welcomed Lieutenant Ed. C. Smith, and Captain Fisher to the inside meetings. The Sergeant-Major was delighted to meet his old friend, and old comrade, Captain Fisher. The meeting was held in the Town Hall, extra seats had to be procured. The people were very kind, and many expressed their pleasure at The Army coming to town, wishing us every success. Prospects are good and Captain Fisher and her Lieutenant are doing some good results. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, of the Windsor Hotel, kindly entertained the Major and his assistant for the week-end.

MONTRÉAL II.

Adjutant and Mrs. Cooper have been welcomed. The meetings were held all day Sunday by them, and were well attended, both inside and out. At night a good spiritual meeting was held, when one soul knelt at the Mercy Seat for Salvation—C. C.

WINNIPEG I.

Adjutant Moore has said his farewells to his fellow-Soldiers. He is to Selkirk, where he will be engaged in farming and market gardening. The Sergeant-Major was delighted to meet his old friend, and old comrade, Captain Fisher. The meeting was held in the Town Hall, extra seats had to be procured. The people were very kind, and many expressed their pleasure at The Army coming to town, wishing us every success. Prospects are good and Captain Fisher and her Lieutenant are doing some good results. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, of the Windsor Hotel, kindly entertained the Major and his assistant for the week-end.

On Sunday, April 11th, we welcomed Lieutenant Ed. C. Smith, and Captain Fisher to the inside meetings. The Sergeant-Major was delighted to meet his old friend, and old comrade, Captain Fisher. The meeting was held in the Town Hall, extra seats had to be procured. The people were very kind, and many expressed their pleasure at The Army coming to town, wishing us every success. distance, and crawling the remainder, for the shells were falling and exploding all about us. Thank God, He spared me to get the water safely. I gathered some sticks and went back to the shed, taking some matches from my pocket, I lit a fire in the open and boiled the water, made tea, and took it into the hospital. Shells were whistling around all the time. My poor German was far gone in move, so getting down, I placed his head upon my knee, and gave him tea. Oh, how grateful he was; tears of gratitude came into his eyes. I shall never forget that moment all humanity was forgotten, and we loved each other. Thank God, He spared me to do at least that one act of kindness to a fallen foe."

HOW SALVATIONISTS DIE

One day, runs the first of these glorious records, a man came into the hall of our Corps in the East End of London. When the Officer were speaking to him after the meeting, they discovered he had never been in an Army meeting before. What had brought him there? they asked. "In the trenches," said he, "I made up my mind that the very first chance I had I'd come."

"Why?" "Well, you know I was fighting next to a Salvationist. When they looked black and dark he would start singing choruses until we all began to sing. If anyone was in trouble or wounded he was ready to do what he could for them. One morning a shot hit him in the trench and he fell mortally wounded. I knelt beside him in the trench and asked him if there was anything I could do for him. 'Yes,' he said, 'in my pocket there is the address of my father and mother. If you live to get home, you will tell them how I died; won't you? I should like to have seen them and given them a kiss, but it is all right. Tell them that religion was good for me away from home in the trenches, and that death had no fears for me.' I said 'Yes, I will tell them.' Then he opened his eyes and pulled me down. 'Supposing,' he went on, 'a shot came for you next, how would it be with you?' And although he only lived a few minutes longer he clung to me about my soul, trying to get me converted, then he closed his eyes and died."

The second story comes from the sea: A sailor who had just got converted at the Sheerness Hall rose from his knees at the Mersey Sea with the joy of salvation on his face and said: "I am glad to be saved. I was on the (one of the cruiser torpedoes) when she sank. I and another member of the crew (a Salvationist) had been swimming along in the water for about two hours or more, and were almost exhausted, when just as we were about to give up, we saw a piece of a spar, made for it and took hold. But, alas! it was not big enough to keep us both afloat. We looked at each other. For a time one took hold while the other swam, then we changed over. We kept this up for a bit, but it was evident we were getting weaker. Neither of us spoke for a while, and then presently the Salvationist said: 'Mate, death means life to me; you are not converted, you hold on to the spar and save yourself; I'll let go; goodbye.' And he let go and went down."

Leaguer John Coombs, writing to his wife, says: "The battle of _____ was in progress, and our trenches were being raked by the enemy's fire. We were expecting any moment to be told that the German gun would have to be silenced. We passed along some soldiers. 'Charge!' We scrambled into the open and rushed forward, met by a perfect hail of bullets. Many of our men hit the dust, but we who remained came to grips with the enemy. I can

I am sure of the hut and the men for whom they will appear next week.) Captain Aspinwall is also Sectional Leader for Cross, having twenty-five subordinates under his direction. He has had a most interesting experience, as he was one of the officers in the wireless station at Bapaume, and was with Brigadier General Whitaker, who in Bapaume two days ago came, and were there until ten days after the occupation. They saw with two hundred and twenty-five men, pass through. After visiting Lt. Havre, the Staff-Captain was given a present position as leader.

Whitaker and Captain Aspinwall are doing hospital visitation, work that is so much appreciated by the men. They distribute food and chocolate, and are doing a really splendid work to visit our places Le Havre, and Versailles, as well as to tell more about the British Army. The number of Officers soon, will extend to the work.

With love to all Canada.

Yours faithfully,

Robert Penfold.

but when the war broke out he enlisted in the 10th New Westminster Fusiliers.

His letters from Valcartier, Salisbury Plain, and France were always written with the hand of a saint.
He was doing all he could for the extension of God's Kingdom. While at Salisbury he had the joy of pointing a backsider to God.

The memorial service was conducted in The Army Citadel on Easter Sunday evening by Adjutant Gosling and Adjutant H. C. Habkirk. Major Grey gave a stirring address, expressing his deep sympathy with The Army in their loss.
Adjutant Habkirk sang, "Oh, 'tis glad to know at last we are one day nearer home." Rev. F. A. Osborne, Chaplain of the 7th Battalion, also spoke.

Brother C. H. Evans spoke on behalf of the Soldiers of New Westminster, and Adjutant Habkirk paid a glowing tribute to our late brother. Adjutant Gosling read the lesson. The Citadel was packed to the top. Four hundred people, including present a large representation of officers and soldiers from the Armoured and training camp were in attendance.

THE LATE BROTHER
MCCOOME—A TRIBUTE

Dear Editor—I think it my duty to pay a tribute to our late comrade, Brother S. R. McCoome who, no doubt, you already know, was promoted to Gun Captain in France on March 9th. I have just got to know about it for certain so soon as dear Brother McCoome arrived on Salisbury Plain—he took his first opportunity to make himself known to our Corps. He stayed with me, and I am pleased to be able to say he was a true, loyal Salvationist; never ashamed to own his Master at any time or place. I was privileged to witness several times in the huts at Larkhill, as always, found him bright and cheerful, and nearly always wearing his jersey.

The last Sunday he visited our Corps he sang and spoke in all open-air and inside meetings, and at the night open-air he sang that song: "I have heard of a Saviour, Whose love was so great," and when he came to the line, "That Love so amazing," he stopped and repeated it again. He was a tall, thin, thin-chested chaplain by number of the British Columbia Regiment who were standing round, and then he spoke on the goodness of God to him, and said that Jesus was his personal friend.

in all circumstances, and invited some to come and prove God for themselves.

He always, and me he was well prepared to meet his Lord and Master should the call come. As you, no doubt, know, he was killed instantaneously by a portion of shell carrying away part of his dear back—Will Grant, Sonster Leader.

RED DEER, ALTA.

On Good Friday some of the comrades, the Officers and Captain Kellar went to Penfield, a village nearby, to give a mission meeting. The Presbyterian Church kindly loaned us a hall, the finances were good, and an invitation was given to come again. On Easter Sunday afternoon we had an enrollment of four comrades. The meetings all day were conducted by Captain Freeman and Lieutenant Samson.

On Sunday and Monday, April

"When the English soldiers came here the Lieutenant and I prepared tea for them while they dug trenches. While the bombardment was on we had thirty of our comrades with their little children in our large cellar. When the Germans came we lodged many of them in our Hall."

11th-12th, we had with us the Calgary Boys' Band, and our Divisional Commander, Major Hay. On the same Sunday Captain Freeman farewelled, after a stay of eleven months. Lieutenant Samson has since farewelled also. On Tuesday night we had a farewell meeting. On Sunday, April 8th, we welcomed our new Officers, Captain Paxman, and Lieutenant Pasmore. The Sunday meetings were good—Candidus E. Tigratock.

DAUPHIN, MAN.

A farewell meeting, which will be long remembered, was conducted in our Hall on Monday, April 13th, for Captain Paxman and Lieutenant Day. The Hall was packed to the doors. The soldiers of the 4th Battalion of the Third Contingent were present, and Captain Walker spoke a few words of farewell, and before leaving the platform he turned to the congregation of eighteen dollars, to show their appreciation for the work that the Officers had done. The Band under the leadership of Bandmaster Armstrong is making good progress. The playing and singing of the String Band also helped to make the meetings interesting. In the junior meeting two children came to Jesus. Brigadier Battaglia was with us on Wednesday.
